

Russia and Peru introduce visa-free regime

21 June, 2011

Visiting South America just got an official stamp of approval, thanks to a new visa-free agreement between Russia and Peru. The agreement between Russia and Peru came into force today. Peruvian tourists coming here without a visa can stay for up to 90 days. Russians have not needed a visa to visit Peru for quite some time, but until now there was no official recognition of the fact.